A GRAVE YARD SCENE. - A scene was enacted at the Baltimore Cemetery on Sunday last, which for the time being produced very unpleasant feelings to many persons who stood beside an open grave, and painfully illustrated to what an extent an unforgiving spirit can go, and if there is any truth that the spirits of the dead revisit this earth, most surely will the conscience of at least one person be sorely troubled. Many months since a young lady residing in this city married against the wishes of her father, and as a punishment for her disobedience the father declared that the daughter should never again behold the face of her mother, and as far as the life of the mother was concerned, he kept his vow. At last the mother sickened; was informed that she must die; but still the obdurate father would not allow the daughter to visit her mother in the dying hour. The mother died, and on last Sunday the daughter, with a heart almost break ing with anguish, followed the funeral train to the Baltimore Cemetery. She begged, plead and entreated to be permitted to have just one look at the face of her mother, but the father refused to have the lid of the coffin removed. The anguish of the sorrow stricken daughter was painful in the extreme, and at last her grief became so violent that the bystanders gave vent to their feelings in such a manner that the father consented for the removal of the coffin lid, but it was only raised "ever so little," but that was enough for the daughter to catch a glimpse of those features, which, in years gone by, were wont to make her young heart as warm as a summer's day. The weeping daughter would have kissed those lips cold in death, but the lid was ordered to be refastened and a few moments afterwards the body was lowered into the narrow pit, there to remain until such time as the Giver of all good shall separate the righteous from the wicked. The heart broken daughter lingered about the grave steps towards the city. - Balt. American. THE INDIANS. - A delegation of the Cherokee Indians, headed by Col. Adams and Col. Vaun, waited upon the President yesterday, and were introduced by Col. Parker, the Commissionor of Indian Affairs. Col. Vaun, speak ing for the delegation, stated to General Grant that they had called, in accordance with time honored custom, to shake hands with the "Great Father," in recognition of the established relationship of guardian and ward between the U.S. Government and the Chero until the unmerciful clods covered all that was most dear to her on earth, and then turn ing away from the hallowed spot, wended her kee nation. The President replied that he was glad to meet with them, but as to the relationship of guardian and ward, he hoped soon to see them citizens of the United States.

Col. Vaun responded, that in the relation they had hitherto held as a self-governing people under the protection of the U.S., the Cherokee nation had prospered, and if all the Indians of their tribe were as capable as the delegation then present, citizenship might not injure them; but a large majority of their number were wholly unable to enter into a hand to hand conflict with white men in the daily transactions of life. Therefore, if they were to be subjected to a territorial government, as threatened by a bill now under consideration by the legislative bodies, their days would soon be numbered. They would speedly be deprived of all their lands and property by the superior power and cunning of white men. and he, therefore, hoped they might be left in undisturbed possession of the territory guaran teed to them by treaty, and the form of gov ernment best suited to their wants.

The President replied that the matter was one of serious import, and that he would certainly be unwilling to do anything inimical to their interests, or that would cause their retro-

The delegation then shook hands and retired. They have prepared a memorial to Congress for protection against the threatened encroach-

THE INFATUATION OF GAMBLING. - The infatuation of gambling is strongly illustrated by the tale told by one Collins, an employee in the Boston city treasury, who has been arrested for stealing from the department about $10,- 000, mostly in gold. Collins says: "When arrested I had $2,400 in gold and some few greenbacks-some 170 or 180 odd dol lars. I there acknowledged that I had been gam bling, and also that it was with money belonging to the city of Boston. No one induced me to play; the cause was as follows: I have played before and won. A few days ago a near relative asked a lean from me of $150. I had but eighty; I gave lifty and took the other thirty, and played at 135 Court street: I lost it; I thought I would try again; took $65 from the treasury and I lost that; I next day took $150 with the same resuit; next day $400, with no better luck; I saw no way to recover myself, and day after day I drew and lost, lost; I had gambled before; I played when I was in the water board at city hall, and lost $100, but this was recovered for me; in California I made money, and returning, I

000, has been lost in gambling; hardly $50 has been spent for cigars or hack hire." The day he was arrested he secreted $5,000 in gold in his desk, intending to take the might train for New York and the steamer for Eu rope. The $2,400 on his person were to "pay expenses."

STANDARD PERIODICALS FOR 1870, Republished by the LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING CO., New York. Indispensable to all desirous of being well informed on the great subjects of the day.

1. The Edinburgh Review.—This is the oldest of the series. In its main teatures it still follows in the path marked out by Brougham, Jeffroy, Sydney Smith and Lord Holland, its original founders and first contributors.

2. The London Quarterly Review, which commences its 128th volume with the January number of the state of the st ber, was set on foot as a rival to the Edinburgh. It resolutely maintains its opposition in politics, and shows equal vigor in its literary department.

The Westminster Review has just closed its 92d volume. In point of literary ability this Review is fast rising to a level with its competitors. It is the advocate of political and religious liberalism.

4. The North British Review, now in its 51st volume, occupies a very high position in periodical literature. Passing beyond the narrow formalism of schools and parties, it appeals to a wider range of sympathies and a higher integrity of conviction.
5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine was commenced 52 years ago. Equalling the Quarterlies in its literary and scientific departments, it has won a wide reputation for the narratives and sketches which enliven its pages.

TERMS FOR 1870. - For any one of the Reviews, $4 per annum; for any two of the Reriews, $7; for any three of the Reviews, $10; for all four of the Reviews, $12; for Blackwood's Magazine, $4; for Blackwood and one Review, 57; for Blackwood and any two of the Reviews, $10; for Blackwood and three of the Reviews, $13; for Blackwood and the four Reviews, $15. Single numbers of a Review, $1; single num bers of Blackwood, 35 cents.

The Reviews are published quarterly; Blackwood's Magazine is monthly. Volumes commence in January.

CLUBS.—A discount of twenty per cent will he allowed to clubs of four or more persons, when the periodicals are sent to one address. Postage.—The postage on current subscriptions to any part of the United States is two cents a number, to be prepaid at the office of delivery. For back numbers the postage is double. PREMIUMS TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.-New subscribers to any of the above periodicals for 1870 will be entitled to receive one of the Four Reviews for 1869. New subscribers to all the five may receive Blackwood or two of the Re views for 1869. BACK NUMBERS. - Subscribers may, by applying early, obtain back sets of the Reviews from January, 1865, to December, 1869, and of Blackwood's Magazine from January, 1866, to December, 1869, at half the current subscription price. Neither premiums to subscribers, no discount to clubs, nor reduced prices for back numbers, can be allowed, unless the money is remitted direct to the publishers. No pre-miums can be given to clubs. The January numbers will be printed from new type, and arrangements have been made which, it is hoped, will secure regular and early publication.

YOUNG MEN. Especially, who have become the victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an ultimoly grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Scoators with the thunders of elequence, or waked to estacy the living lyre, may call with but confidence.

MARKIAGE. Married Persons, or Young Men comtemp's ting marriage, being aware of Physical Weak ness, Organic Dobinty, Defermities, speedily cured.

He who places himself under the care of Dr I. may religiously conflde in his honor as gentleman, and confidently roly upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affection, which renders me miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety. Young persons are too apt to commit ex-cesses from not being aware of the dreading consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to den, that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those folling into improper habits than by the prodent? Besides being deprived of the pleas prudent? Beades being deprived of the piec-ure of healthy elispring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind-arise.
